

Representation In College of Cardinals Is Now Equal

Important Body that Will Elect Next Pope Has 33 Italian and 33 Foreign Members; Italian, However, Is Assured of Election; Jewish Mayor of Rome Visiting United States.

NEVER since there was a Roman Catholic church did such conditions obtain as obtain since the conclave just held. The college of cardinals, from among whom the next pope will be chosen, contains as many Italians as non-Italians, as it does Italians. Reasons for this new turn of affairs are the growth of the church, beyond the confines of Italy, and the more and more Catholic administration of the church under its present pope.

Cardinal Falconio, once apostolic delegate at Washington and now a member of the Curia or governing body of the church in Rome, is a naturalized American. He is Italian by birth. If he be counted an Italian the college stands 34 Italians to 33 foreigners, but if he be reckoned an American, the college is 33 each. This includes cardinal Bello, the Patriarch of Lisbon, created cardinal two years ago and just now proclaimed. The delay has been caused by the political difficulties in Portugal.

Those in best position to know say that the radical change sufficient to make 1914 historic in Roman church annals, does not increase the probability of the election of a foreign cardinal to the papal chair. The next pope will be an Italian, by all odds, and all of recent centuries, and he is more than likely to be an Italian in sympathy with present politics. Barely has a pope had behind him united curia and college in greater degree than aas Pope Pius X.

Most of the older cardinals are so old and ill that they have no pronounced policies, and the two last infusions of new men into the college, in 1911 and 1913, have brought in prelates who are loyal to existing policies. The few that are not have been left behind in the conclave elections. Since the conclave of May, 1914, the prelate more than any other likely to be the next pope is cardinal De Lai.

GOOD BUSINESS JUDGMENT

MADE NEW MAYOR OF ROME
Former mayor of Rome, the English Jew who attained success by helping to reform affairs of an Italian city, and now in Rome, has been elected the Italian deputation to the Panama exposition at San Francisco, owed his success in Rome to Roman politics and not to his own merits. He had been mayor of Rome for two years, and his active support of Mazzini, even then, however, it is declared to be doubtful if he would have become mayor of Rome save for the order of the pope forbidding Catholics to take part in Italian elections. The Mazzini and the absence of Catholics from the polls brought about Nathan's advancement.

At the election some months ago Pope Pius X removed his restrictions. Catholic men of Rome voted for the first time in many years. Old results were overturned, and mayor Nathan resigned. Now he announces his purpose to continue in Roman politics and oppose new conditions. Catholics of Rome are still permitted by their church to vote. The outcome cannot be foreseen.

In Italy and in America Catholic influence has sought to prevent the coming of mayor Nathan to the exposition. Meetings of protest have been held by Catholics in America, and in Italy, the activity of Masons in America in Nathan's behalf will render more difficult the political success of the mayor when he returns to Rome.

Boy or Girl? Great Question!

This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy—an external application known as "Mother's Friend." During the period of expectancy it is applied to the abdominal muscles and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. In this manner it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming motherhood. It has been generally recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do those knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses usually looked forward to with such concern.

There is no question, but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and this of itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women. You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. It has helped a host of mothers to a complete recovery. It is prepared only by Bradford Regulator Co., 301 Santa Fe street, El Paso, Texas. ## Sentence Sermons By El Paso Ministers

"To him that hath shall be given, and from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath." The big church is growing at the expense of the little one. How many good and efficient Christian workers in El Paso and elsewhere pass by the little struggling church where they are needed and could put their talent to such good use, in order to be identified with the big church which already has a sufficiency of workers and can easily do without their assistance?—Rev. Kenneth Brown, of the East El Paso Presbyterian church.

Faith and obedience are the two great pillars which support the Christian's hope in Christ.—Rev. J. H. Allen, of the Austin Park Christian church.

Lord Erskine used to say that whatever command of language he possessed, and whatever the flow of his ideas, he derived all from an unremitting study of the bible.—Rev. Henry Easter, of the Church of St. Clement.

Sin blinds. The sinner does not see the real danger of sinful indulgence or the beauty and value of religion. Christ calls from darkness to light.—Rev. Wallace R. Evans, of the Highland Park Methodist church.

In the training of our children Christian parents should esteem it a duty and a privilege to remember the church and seek to equip them for the exacting service which is being required at the hands of the church.—Rev. Perry J. Rice, of the First Christian church.

It is not a fact; it is not true, that we are the children of circumstances or environments, only as we will it, for to admit such a thing is to leave God out of the equation.—Rev. C. Wesley Webb, of the Trinity Methodist church.

This age is entirely too frivolous. Many, many people drift out into the mad whirl of society, forgetting to lay steadfast hold on the objects of eternity, and go laughingly to hell.—Rev. W. H. Duncan, of the Alta Vista Methodist church.

Regeneration is necessary for salvation. It is effected by the holy spirit operating through the means of grace.—Rev. Paul G. Birkmann, pastor of the German Lutheran church.

We would naturally expect him to be a very extraordinary person who redeems mankind from sin; no wonderful statement about the redeemer can stagger me, for it cannot exceed the wonder and mystery of the sin situation as I see it for myself.—Rev. John E. Abbott, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

If we could understand the markings of a butterfly's wing, we could understand the meaning of life.—Rev. Miles Hansen, of the First Congregational church.

Christ died in the sinner's place—the just for the unjust, the law abiding for the law breaking, the innocent for the guilty, God for man. He died that we might not die. And without shedding of blood is no remission, but Jesus has died and there is remission. The blood of Jesus Christ, his son, cleanseth us from all sin.—Rev. J. F. Williams, of the First Baptist church.

The greatest question for every man to consider is, "What shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?" Everybody either accepts or rejects Jesus Christ. He offers salvation "without money and without price."—Rev. Herman G. Porter, of the First Methodist Episcopal church.
